

Connecting Social Networks

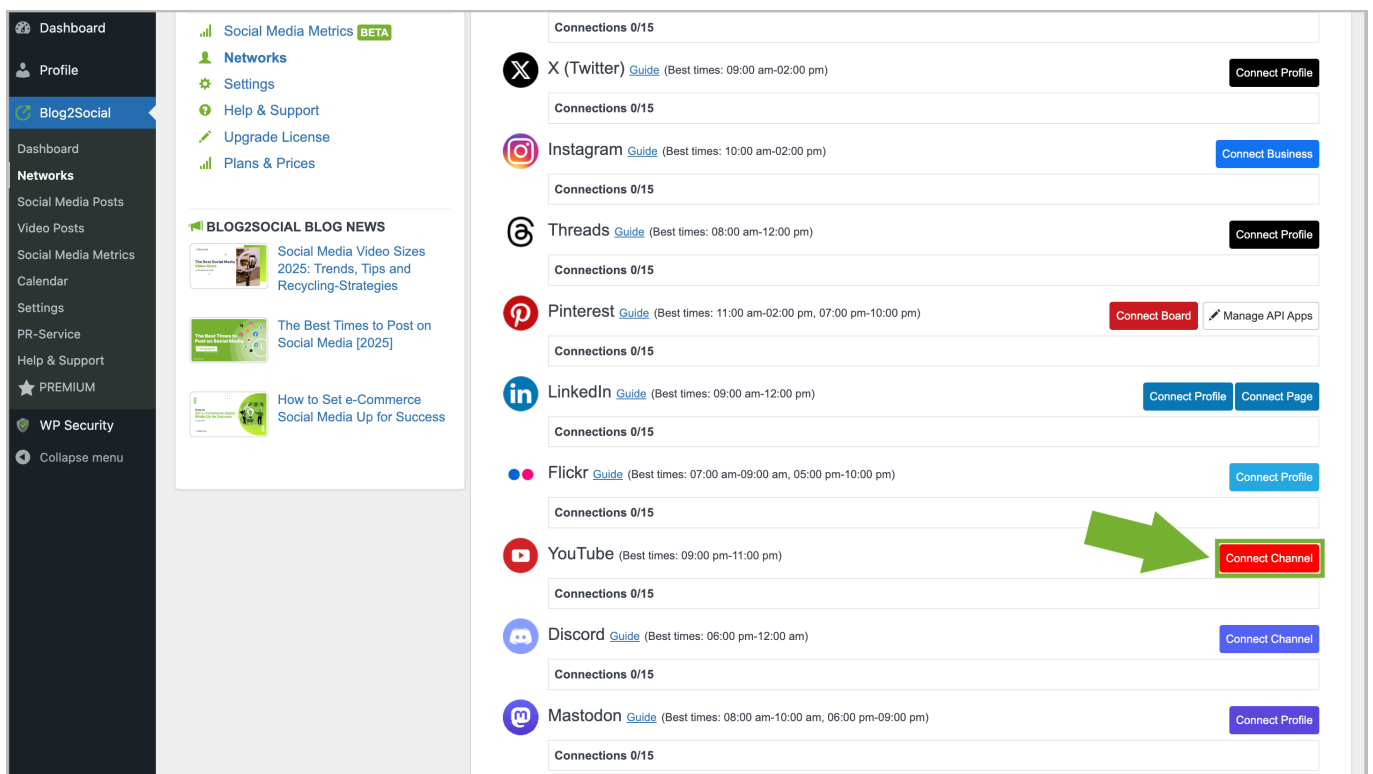

How do I connect my YouTube Channel with Blog2Social?

To connect your YouTube Channel to Blog2Social, you need an active Premium license (Smart, Pro or Business) and the Video Add-on.

Now you can click on "Networks" and select "Video Networks" in Blog2Social. Here, you will find an overview of all networks that support video sharing. Simply click "Connect Channel" next to YouTube.

The screenshot shows the Blog2Social dashboard. On the left sidebar, the 'Networks' menu item is highlighted. The main content area is titled 'Networks' and has two tabs: 'Social Media Networks' and 'Video Networks'. The 'Video Networks' tab is selected and highlighted with a green box, with a green arrow pointing to it. Below the tabs, there is a list of social media networks that support video sharing: Facebook, X (Twitter), Bluesky, Instagram, and Threads. Each network entry includes a 'Connect Profile' button, a 'Connect Page' button (for Facebook), and an 'Edit Post Template' button. The 'Connections' status for each network is shown as '0/15'.

The screenshot shows the Blog2Social dashboard with the 'Video Networks' tab selected. The list of social media networks is expanded to include YouTube, Discord, and Mastodon. The 'Connect Channel' button for YouTube is highlighted with a green box, and a green arrow points to it. The 'Connections' status for each network is shown as '0/15'.
