Which WooCommerce product variables can I add automatically?

If you have an active WooCommerce installation on your website, you can significantly speed up your workflow by using post templates in Blog2Social. Instead of manual data entry for every post, you can use placeholders (variables) to automatically pull specific product details directly into your social media posts. This ensures your posts are always accurate, professional, and consistent across all platforms.

By using post templates, you can automatically inject the following product information into your social media posts:

- Price
- Regular Price
- Sale Price

With the price variable enabled, the product price will appear as a numerical value in your post preview. To display a currency symbol alongside the price, simply enter a static character (such as $ or €) immediately following the variable.

Can I use different images for my WooCommerce products on social media?

Auto-Posting, Sharing and Re-Sharing

Yes, with Blog2Social you can customize the visual content of your posts before sharing. When editing your WooCommerce product post in the Blog2Social editor, you can replace the default product image with another image or even upload a video. This gives you full flexibility to create more engaging and tailored posts for each social media platform. These guides show you:

How can I schedule or re-share my WooCommerce product posts?

Blog2Social provides a social media calendar that lets you:

-Schedule individual or recurring product promotions.

-Re-share product posts automatically to boost visibility via the Re-sharer feature.

Re-sharing your evergreen content helps you to revive your products.

-Visualize and manage all scheduled posts in one place.

The screenshot displays the Blog2Social interface, featuring a sidebar with navigation options and a main calendar view for June 2025. The sidebar includes sections for license information (Business, 179995 remaining from 180000), post volume metrics (1500 remaining from 1500), and a 'POST MANAGEMENT' menu with items like All Posts, Favorites, AI Assistant, Drafts, Instant Sharing, Scheduled Posts, Shared Posts, Re-Share Posts, Share Videos, Auto-Post, Calendar, and Notifications. The main area is titled 'Calendar' and offers options to share content (WordPress, Link Post, Text Post, Image Post, Video Post). Below this is a 'Sort by network' section with icons for various social media platforms. The calendar grid shows scheduled posts for June 2025, with specific posts visible for June 3, 4, 5, 9, 10, 12, 14, 16, 17, 18, and 19. Each post card includes the user name, time, a preview of the content, and the platform it is scheduled for.
