

Contracting and Licensing

Can I use one Blog2Social Premium license for more than one website?

Depending on the license you choose you can use your license key for multiple users on one or more blogs / domains. You are free to use the license key for different users in one blog / domain or for users on different blogs / domains depending on the license you have purchased.

How do I select the right Blog2Social license for my needs?

If you want to change the users of your license:

- Log in on <http://service.blog2social.com/> with your user credentials: username and password that you got in your registration email
- When you are logged in, you can see information on licenses, account, and invoices
- Go to "Licenses"
- You can check which version of Blog2Social is registered under your account
- You can see how many users are activated with your license key, who it is and on which domain / website the license key is used
- To switch a license key from one user or website to another, delete the respective license key here. This is your license key
- To activate another user, please copy-paste this license key and insert it in the right sidebar of your Blog2Social Dashboard in the back end of your WordPress
- You can see when your license expires

Contracting and Licensing

More tips for your license management

- How do I activate my license key?
- User management: How to assign license keys and social network accounts to other users
- How to add more sites, groups and users?

Unique solution ID: #1046

Author: n/a

Last update: 2017-07-25 01:14